

MERPIN 9020

High-concentrated liming auxiliary with reductive action

Base: combination of substances with reductive action

Appearance: colourless to purplish liquid

Stability: against alkali, acids and elektrolytes in usual concentrations

MODE OF ACTION:

The alcalinity of the liming chemicals activates the reducing substances of MERPIN 9020. Thus a proper and rapid hair loosening and removal of ground substances and scuds is obtained.

An excessive plumping of the grain will be avoided.

The limed pelts are generally less swollen than normal, thus neck wrinkles and growth marks appear less pronounced. The pelts are light complected.

FIELDS OF APPLICATION:

- reduction of sulphides in the liming step
- prevention of the immunisation of the hair roots in a hair-save liming process
- addition to the liming float to achieve a general improvement of the classification and area yield

QUANTITIES TO USE:

0,3 - 0,5 % MERPIN 9020 in a low-sulphide liming, based on the salted- or green weight

HINT OF APPLICATION:

The colour of the MERPIN 9020 may vary from colourless to purplish. This is normal and does not pose a quality impairment.

STORAGE HINT:

Protect from cold.
